A Peek into Hull's Past

Hull, sometimes called 'ull by locals, has been around since the 12th century. It was started by monks who made wool. In 1293, King Edward I bought the town and named it Kingston-Upon-Hull, but people just call it Hull.

Middle Ages and Beyond

During the Middle Ages, Hull became important for trading grain and wool. In 1642, King Charles I tried to enter Hull but was stopped. This started the English Civil War. You can still see Beverley Gate where this happened.

18th Century and Ship-building

By the 18th century, Hull was famous for building ships. The HMS Bounty, a famous ship, was built here. Around this time, William Wilberforce, who helped end slavery, was born in Hull. You can visit his home in the Museums Quarter.

Fishing, Whaling, and World War II

Hull was busy with fishing and whaling by the end of the 18th century. During World War II, Hull was bombed a lot. But after the war, the city rebuilt itself.

Modern Hull

In 1981, Queen Elizabeth II opened the Humber Bridge, connecting East Yorkshire to Lincolnshire. Today, Hull has music venues, theatres, and fun places seen in movies like Enola Holmes on Netflix.

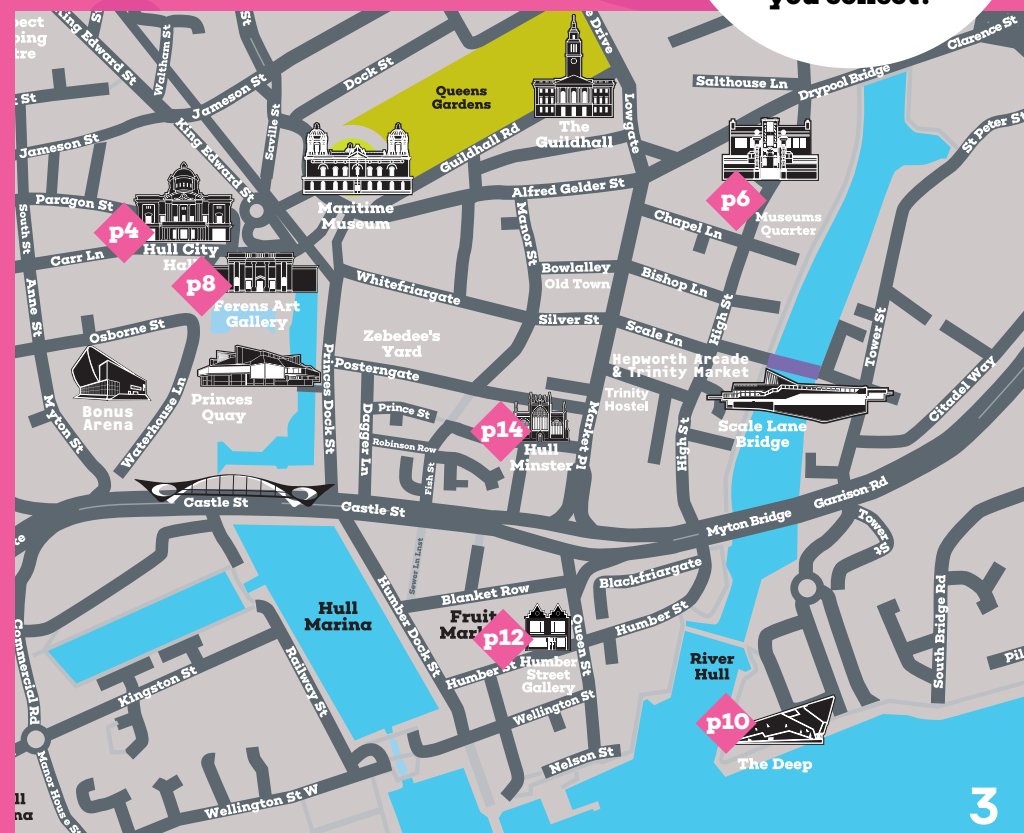

How to Use This Book

Over the summer holidays, you'll discover different places in Hull. Each has a fun activity page in this book.

Read each activity carefully and have fun solving puzzles, drawing pictures, or finding clues.

After finishing an activity, show your completed page to a staff member at the place you visited. They'll stamp your page as a certificate of completion!

Try to visit all the places and complete all the activities to collect all the stamps. How many can you collect?

Hull Fish Trail

The Hull Fish Trail is a great adventure through the city where you can explore Hull in a whole new way! It's like a treasure hunt with 41 fish sculptures hidden across the city centre starting near the City Hall box office and ending at the top of Whitefriargate.

These fish sculptures are not just any fish – they are life-size and beautifully created by artist Gordon Young. You'll find tiny anchovies swimming together and a huge 10-foot ray looking over Victoria Pier. Some fish are placed in funny spots like an electric eel near an electrical substation!

Get ready to spot shiny scales, patterns, and lots of fun surprises along the way!

As you explore the fish trail and find the fish on the streets, find them in the wordsearch and cross them off the list!

The Museums Quarter

In Hull and East Riding Museum, you'll meet a woolly mammoth and see Roman mosaics from a bathhouse. This museum has amazing displays including medieval treasures and a mini Iron Age village you can stroll through. You'll also find Stone Age tools and artifacts from when people first settled here.

Streetlife Museum has old-fashioned cars, buses, and even a tram! Inside, there are shops with lots of items from the past. You can pretend to be a shopkeeper or a passenger on an old bus. You can also experience the smells of a stable as you ride a horse-drawn coach.

Tip for Grown-ups

If the weather is nice, enjoy the sun outside in the museum's gardens; it's the perfect spot for a picnic!

Once you have explored both museums, take a look at these vehicles from across time and link them to their owner.

Two of the most famous paintings in Ferens Art Gallery are 'The Lion at Home' (Gallery 5) and 'The Fish Market' (Gallery 2). All the best pieces of art started out as just a sketch, so take a seat and recreate these masterpieces yourself!

The Deep

The Deep is a fin-tastic aquarium where you can explore the wonders of the underwater world. You'll journey through prehistoric seas, past tropical lagoons, into the vast open oceans, down to the darkest depths, through the chilly Kingdom of ice and into the future.

Learn about marine life from different parts of the world and discover how we can protect our oceans through interactive exhibits. One of the highlights include the underwater viewing tunnel where sharks, rays and turtles swim right above you! The Deep isn't just a day out – it's an adventure that teaches you about the importance of our oceans.

As you walk around The Deep, spot the marine animals that are in this picture.

What colour are they?

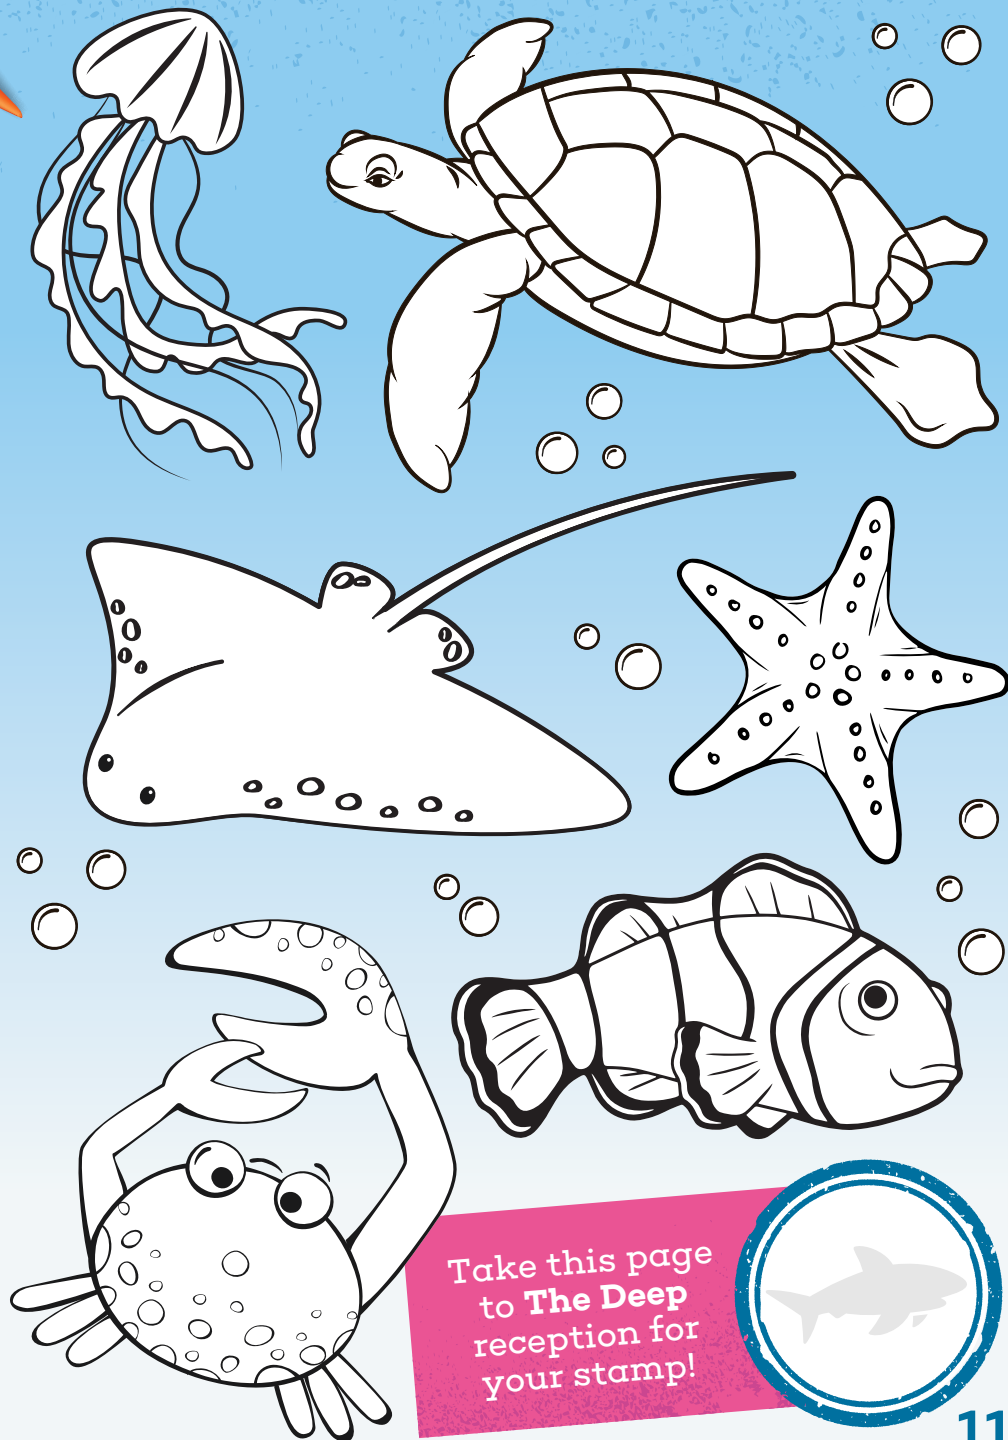

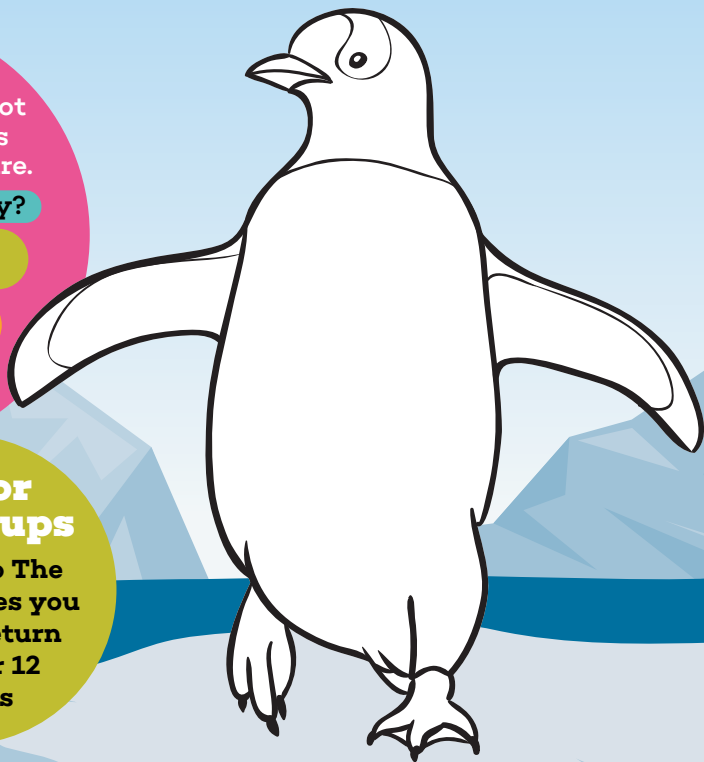

Are they bright or camouflaged?

Are they shiny or matte?

Then colour them in!

Tip for Grown-ups

A ticket to The Deep entitles you to FREE return visits for 12 months

Dinostar

Dinostar is a ROAR-SOME museum where you can travel back in time to when dinosaurs roamed the Earth! Inside, you'll discover real fossils and bones from these ancient giants. You can even build a volcano in the interactive sandbox.

Learn about different dinosaur species and how they lived. See models of dinosaurs and their habitats, and even hear what they might have sounded like.

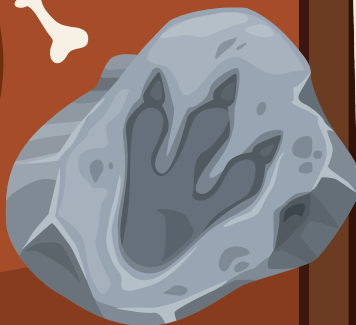

As you walk around Dinostar, think about each dinosaur and its features.

Which ones had long necks, spikes, or wings?

How do you think this might have helped them survive?

Tip for Grown-ups

Humber Street has an eclectic mix of independent shopping, perfect to pick up a memento of your day out

Join up the dot-to-dot and name that dinosaur!
